Can you pursue what you love to do naturally and earn a living from it in a tough world based on money where you're constantly being pushed to be a functional worker doing a mundane job? I'm not talking about being an artist, an actor, a model or professional athlete. These are pipe dreams for almost everybody and they're frivolous too. These entertainment fields don't add value to the economy or to people's real lives. Paintings, somebody doing a cute dance in a music video or people chasing a ball around add nothing to the practical needs of life like food, clothing, energy, transportation, etc. I'm talking about doing something useful that can be fun and interesting for you and earn you a living. This book is about earning and making money for self-starters, misfits, creative people, adventurers and travelers who either: don't know what to do to earn a living don't want to sell their souls for an artificial job in the system do not have the personality to work a regular job do not want to be around other people want to work anywhere in the world want adventure, novelty and new experiences There are two main ways for a free spirit to earn money: do my own thing as in self-employment work an interesting job The 68 volumes are as follows: Volume 1. The Alcalde serves as an intellectual crossroads where UT's luminaries - artists, engineers, executives, musicians, attorneys, journalists, lawmakers, and professors among them - meet bimonthly to exchange ideas. Its pages also offer a place for Texas Exes to swap stories and share memories of Austin and their alma mater.
